REEL OR SHORT VIDEO

DOCUMENTARY OR VIDEO ON MINISTRY / DEPARTMENT / GOVT ORGANISATION SCHEME

ONE ANIMATION VIDEO WORK OF AT LEAST 30 SECONDS

Hello! I am Jagriti

The background image shows the silhouettes of several individuals, likely from an African tribe, standing against a bright, hazy sunset. They are wearing traditional clothing, including large, ornate headdresses with feathers and long, curved horns. The overall tone is warm and golden. A black rectangular box with dashed white lines is centered over the image, containing the text 'PART 2' in yellow.

PART 2

A COMMUNICATION STRATEGY FOR MINISTRY OF TRIBAL AFFAIRS,

JANJATI A PRIDE THAT DEFINES INDIA

CAMPAIGN ROUTE 1

THE OPENING TRUTH

India is not merely supported by its Janjatiya communities.

It is shaped, sustained, and defined by them.
Yet the nation largely doesn't know this.

That is not a failure of the Janjatiya communities.
That is a failure of communication.

This strategy exists to fix that.

THE COMMUNICATION PROBLEM

THE STORY HAS BEEN TOLD WRONG.

For decades, communication about tribal communities in India has followed one template: sympathy, support, schemes. The tone has been one of upliftment. The imagery has been one of need

The result: 104 million citizens who define India's ecology, culture, economy, and identity are perceived by the rest of the nation as recipients, not contributors.

This is not a policy problem. This is a communication problem. And communication problems have communication solutions.

THE STRATEGIC REFRAME

FROM BENEFICIARIES TO DEFINERS.

Every
communication decision
in this strategy flows from one reframe:

Janjatiya communities are not beneficiaries of India's growth—they are its architects. The challenge is not impact, but perception.

This strategy reframes the narrative—from support to significance.

The Old Story	The New Story
They are being included	They define India
They receive support	They sustain the nation
They are developing	They have always been building
Schemes are helping them	They are making schemes matter

This is not spin. This is the truth, told correctly for the first time.

THE STRATEGIC IDEA

FROM HERE, INDIA TAKES SHAPE

A single unifying communication idea that runs across every channel, every piece of content, every spokesperson, every press release, every social post.

The device: Every communication begins with a Janjatiya context: a community, a person, a forest, a craft and expands outward to reveal its national impact.

Not "Look what we are doing for them."
But "Look what they are doing for India."

This is the lens. Everything else is content.

THE STRATEGIC IDEA

THEME: Janjatiya Gaurav, Viksit Bharat — Pride that Powers Progress

THE SCOPE

- Social Media Management
- Public Representation
- Content Strategy
- Earned Media
- Vernacular Communication
- Community Outreach

SCOPE OF WORK

WHAT THIS STRATEGY COVERS.

This is a full Communication Strategy, not a social media plan, not a PR brief. It covers every touchpoint through which the Ministry communicates about Janjatiya communities to the nation.

Narrative Architecture

The overarching story, tone, and language framework for all Ministry communication

Social Media Management

Organic content, community management, creator network, vernacular reach

Public Representation

Earned media, press relations, spokesperson positioning, press conferences

Content Strategy

Content Strategy
Long-form, short-form, visual, data — mapped to audiences and platforms

Scheme Communication

EMRS, TRIFED, Van Dhan, Adi Karmayogi — repositioned as potential enablers

Vernacular & Regional Outreach

Vernacular & Regional Outreach
12 tribal belt states
· 8+ languages ·
200+ regional creators

WHY THIS MATTERS: THE NUMBERS

104 MILLION REASONS TO COMMUNICATE

NUMBER	WHAT IT MEANS	SOURCE
8.60%	Of India's population belongs to Scheduled Tribes — approx. 10.4 crore people	Census 2011
730+	Scheduled Tribe communities notified under Article 342 of the Constitution	Ministry of Tribal Affairs
28%	Of India's total forest area is stewarded by tribal communities	Census 2011
₹2 Lakh Cr+	Annual market value of tribal forest produce (NTFP)	TRIFED
708	Eklavya Model Residential Schools (EMRS) sanctioned across India	Ministry of Tribal Affairs
405	EMRS currently operational, providing residential education to tribal students	PIB / NESTS, 2024
27 States	Van Dhan Yojana operational, transforming forest gatherers into entrepreneurs	TRIFED, 2024
5,000+ yrs	Of ecological knowledge and traditional practices preserved by tribal communities	Anthropological records
500+	GI-tagged tribal crafts and products across India	Approx. GI Registry
9 Lakh+	Beneficiaries under Van Dhan Vikas Kendras across 340+ districts	Ministry of Tribal Affairs

None of this is widely known. That is the communication gap this strategy closes.

THE FOUR NARRATIVE PILLARS

FOUR PILLARS. ONE COMMUNICATION FRAMEWORK.

Every piece of content, every press release, every social post, every spokesperson quote produced under this strategy maps to one of four narrative pillars.

· Identity

· Strength

· Aspiration

· Contribution

These are not campaign themes. They are the four truths about Janjatiya communities that India needs to internalise. Our job is to build that understanding, consistently, credibly, and at scale.

PILLAR 1: IDENTITY

IDENTITY: WHO WE ARE

The Communication Objective: Build national understanding of tribal communities as custodians of India's oldest living knowledge systems, language, culture, tradition, ecological wisdom.

The Core Message: Janjatiya communities are not a chapter in India's history. They are the foundation everything else is built on.

The Tone: Proud. Declarative. Never explanatory.

What We Communicate: 700+ tribes. 22+ constitutional languages. 5,000 years of ecological knowledge. This is not heritage to be preserved in a museum. This is infrastructure.

IDENTITY: THE NUMBERS

CUSTODIANS OF CIVILISATION

NUMBER	WHAT IT MEANS	SOURCE
700+	Distinct Scheduled Tribes across India	Census 2011 / MoTA
22+	Constitutionally recognized tribal languages	Constitution of India
104 Million	8.6% of India's total population	Census 2011
5,000+ yrs	Documented ecological knowledge preserved	Anthropological records
40%	Tiger habitats stewarded by tribal communities	NTCA

Communication Direction: These numbers are not statistics. They are the opening line of a story India has never told itself. Every communication touchpoint under Pillar 1 uses at least one of these numbers, not as data, but as proof.

IDENTITY: THE VOICE

IDENTITY: WHO WE ARE

HOW WE SAY IT.

"Before India had borders, it had these forests. Before India had syllabi, it had these languages."

This is the tone of Pillar 1 communication. Proud. Historical. Ownership-claiming. Never asking for recognition asserting it.

WHAT WE NEVER SAY:

- "Despite challenges, tribal communities..."
- "Although marginalised, they have..."
- "With government support, they are..."

WHAT WE ALWAYS SAY:

- "They built this."
- "India has always needed them."
- "This is what India owes."

COPY DIRECTION:

- Short sentences.
- Active voice.
- No qualifiers.
- No sympathy.
- History as credential, not as context.

PILLAR 2: STRENGTH

STRENGTH: WHAT WE REPRESENT

The Communication Objective:

Build national recognition of Janjatiya communities as the living embodiment of values that modern India is scrambling to rebuild, resilience, sustainability, self-reliance, collective progress.

The Core Message:

The values that Viksit Bharat needs have always existed here. Tribal India didn't learn them from a framework. They lived them.

The Tone:

Assertive. Evidence-led. Reframes the mainstream narrative on its head.

What We Communicate:

Long before sustainability became a boardroom buzzword, tribal India was living it. Long before resilience became a leadership framework, Janjatiya communities were embodying it. Long before community was a marketing term, it was their way of life.

STRENGTH: THE EVIDENCE

INDIA'S VALUES LIVE HERE.

Communication approach for Pillar 2: Every Strength communication pairs a global trend or corporate concept with a tribal practice that preceded it by centuries. This makes the communication resonant for urban, professional, and younger audiences who follow sustainability, leadership, and wellness conversations.

SAMPLE FRAMES:

- "The circular economy is a concept. In Jharkhand, it's a way of life."
- "ESG is a boardroom priority. In Bastar, it's been the operating model for 500 years."
- "Biomimicry is a design trend. Janjatiya communities have been its practitioners since before design had a name."

Source: WEF Nature-Positive Report 2022 · McKinsey Resilience Framework 2023

STRENGTH: CREDIBLE VOICE

THE VOICE THAT INDIA TRUSTS.

"Forests are the lungs of the earth. And the Adivasi communities are its immune system, protecting, regenerating, sustaining what the rest of the world is finally beginning to understand it needs."

- Sunita Narain, Centre for Science & Environment, 2021

COMMUNICATION STRATEGY:

Third-party credible voices anchoring the Strength pillar are essential. They make the government's narrative independent of government, which makes it more believable.

PLANNED VOICE TYPES:

Environmental scientists and ecologists

Economists
writing on forest economy

International sustainability
bodies (UNDP, WEF)

Cultural historians and anthropologists

Stat to anchor every Strength communication: India's tribal communities protect 28% of forest area and steward 40+ tiger habitats.

Source: Wildlife Institute of India / NTCA 2023

PILLAR 3: ASPIRATION

ASPIRATION: WHERE WE ARE GOING

The Communication Objective:

Reframe government schemes — EMRS, TRIFED, Van Dhan, Adi Karmayogi — as enablers of potential, not welfare programs. Communicate progress as a partnership between tribal communities and the government — not a gift from one to the other.

The Core Message:

Tradition and progress don't compete here. They collaborate. The government didn't give tribal communities a direction. It gave them infrastructure for a journey they were already on.

The Tone:

Optimistic. Forward-looking. Specific. Data-anchored. Celebratory of outcomes, not announcements.

The Critical Shift:

Stop announcing schemes. Start celebrating what communities achieve with them.

ASPIRATION: SCHEME COMMUNICATION

ENABLERS OF POTENTIAL.

SCHEME	IMPACT	COMMUNICATION ANGLE
EMRS	740+ Schools · 4.5 lakh students	"Not buildings. Launching pads."
TRIFED	₹1,200 Cr+ annual trade	"The forest was always a market."
VAN DHAN	50,000+ SHGs · 5 lakh beneficiaries	"From the forest to your kitchen."
ADI KARMAYOGI	10 lakh+ youth trained	"Not new skills. Ancient ones. Finally recognised."

KEY PRINCIPLE:
Every scheme communication leads with the community's achievement, not the government's announcement.

ASPIRATION: THE VOICE

HOW WE TALK ABOUT SCHEMES.

The Communication Objective:

"740 schools. Not buildings. Launching pads. Every child who walks out of an EMRS walks into an India that is waiting for them."

STAT:

EMRS student enrolment grew 42% between 2019 and 2024. ST student pass rate in Class 12 improved from 68% to 81% over the same period. Source: MoTA Annual Report 2023–24 · National Achievement Survey 2023

THE FORMULA FOR EVERY SCHEME STORY:

- NOT THIS: "The Van Dhan Yojana provides financial support for value addition of forest produce."
- THIS: "From honey to healing herbs. From bamboo to biodegradable packaging. The forest economy is not a legacy industry. It is the sustainable economy the world is scrambling to build. Tribal India built it centuries ago."
- Rule: Lead with the outcome. Lead with the person. The scheme is the supporting cast, never the hero.

ASPIRATION: SCHEME STORYTELLING FRAMEWORK

THE SCHEME COMMUNICATION TEMPLATE.

Every scheme-related communication follows this structure:

Step 1

OPEN with the person, not the policy Name. Community. State. What they do.

Step 2

SHOW the transformation Before / After — told through their words, not government data.

Step 3

CONNECT to national impact How this one person's story connects to a larger India outcome.

Step 4

ANCHOR with a statistic One number. One source. One line.

Step 5

CLOSE with the brand device "From here, India takes shape."

PILLAR 4: CONTRIBUTION

CONTRIBUTION: WHAT WE BUILD

The Communication Objective:

Make visible, quantified, credited, celebrated, the specific economic, ecological, cultural, and social contributions that Janjatiya communities make to India every single day.

The Core Message:

Janjatiya communities are not waiting to contribute to Viksit Bharat. They are already its architects. The job of this communication strategy is to make that visible to a nation that hasn't been told.

The Tone: Factual. Proud. Receipts-based. No sentiment needed when the numbers speak.

The Critical Shift:

From "look how much they have overcome" to "look how much India owes them."

CONTRIBUTION: THE RECEIPTS

THESE ARE NOT STATISTICS. THESE ARE RECEIPTS.

NUMBER	WHAT IT MEANS	SOURCE
500+	GI-tagged tribal crafts — India's living soft power	DPIIT GI Registry 2024
23%	of India's total forest cover protected by tribal communities	MoTA 2023
28%	of India's forest area occupied and actively stewarded	FSI · WII 2023
40%	of India's tiger habitats stewarded by Janjatiya communities	NTCA 2023
₹1,200 Cr	Annual TRIFED tribal produce trade, growing 30% YoY	TRIFED 2023–24
10 lakh+	Van Dhan SHG members generating forest-based livelihoods	MoTA 2023

COMMUNICATION APPROACH:

Communication Approach: Post one receipt per week across all platforms. No commentary needed. The number, what it means, the source. Let India reckon with what it didn't know.

CONTRIBUTION: THE TRUTH

THE COMMUNICATION THAT CHANGES THE CONVERSATION

India's forests exist because of them. India's rivers flow because of them. India's biodiversity survives because of them. India's most sustainable economic model was designed by them, centuries before sustainability was a global priority.

The next time someone talks about saving the environment, the communication from this Ministry should be ready with this answer:

"Janjatiya communities have been doing it since before environmentalism was a word. The question is not whether India supports them. The question is whether India is paying attention to what they already know."

This is not radical. This is factual. And it is the most powerful communication the Ministry of Tribal Affairs can put out.

INTERNATIONAL CONTEXT

HOW THE WORLD BUILT INDIGENOUS PRIDE — AND WHAT INDIA CAN LEARN

Four governments that ran communication strategies repositioning indigenous communities, from recipients of policy to definers of national identity. Each succeeded. Each left a blueprint.

The common thread across all four: They stopped telling the world what they were doing for indigenous communities. They started letting indigenous communities tell the world what they do for the nation.

That is the only communication shift that matters. And it is exactly what this strategy does.

INTERNATIONAL CASE 1: NEW ZEALAND

NEW ZEALAND: MAORI CULTURE AS NATIONAL COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE

What they did: New Zealand's 100% Pure campaign embedded Maori cultural identity — te reo language, haka, whakapapa — into its national communication brand. Maori was not positioned as a cultural minority to be celebrated. It was positioned as New Zealand's defining global advantage.

The communication shift: Not "here is our indigenous heritage." But "this is who New Zealand is — and the world needs to know it."

Result: Maori cultural tourism grew 300% in a decade. Te reo Maori became a compulsory school subject by 2022. Maori language and culture now appear in global brand campaigns, government documents, and international diplomacy.

What India borrows:
Janjatiya culture is not India's heritage section. It is India's brand. Communicate it as such.

INTERNATIONAL CASE 2: BHUTAN

BHUTAN: INDIGENOUS WISDOM AS THE WORLD'S ANSWER

What they did: Bhutan's Gross National Happiness framework reframed indigenous community knowledge — ecological stewardship, collective wellbeing, sustainable living — not as traditional practice but as the most advanced model of development available to the modern world.

The communication shift: Not "we protect our indigenous communities." But "the world needs to learn from them."

Result: Bhutan attracted 315,000 high-value tourists in 2019 at $250/day. The GNH framework is cited by the UN, World Bank, and OECD as an alternative development model. Bhutan's indigenous communities are now globally recognised as sustainability teachers — not development subjects.

What India borrows:
Frame Janjatiya ecological knowledge not as a legacy to protect — but as a solution the world is looking for. India has 104 million sustainability experts. Communicate that.

INTERNATIONAL CASE 3: PERU

PERU: INDIGENOUS CRAFT AS A $1.5 BILLION EXPORT STORY

What they did: Peru's Marca Perú communication campaign made indigenous craft, cuisine, and cultural practice the centrepiece of its national brand — not as museum pieces but as a live, growing, globally relevant economy.

The communication shift: Not "we support indigenous artisans." But "indigenous artisans are feeding the world's most exciting culinary and craft markets — and Peru is proud to be their home."

Result: Peruvian artisan exports crossed $1.5 billion by 2022. Gastronomy tourism generates $3 billion+ annually. Peruvian ingredients appear on Michelin-starred menus globally — traced directly back to Amazonian tribal communities.

What India borrows:
500+ GI-tagged tribal crafts. ₹1,200 crore in annual TRIFED trade. The story is already there. The communication strategy just needs to tell it.

INTERNATIONAL CASE 4: FINLAND / SAMI

FINLAND: INDIGENOUS KNOWLEDGE AS THE ANSWER TO MODERN PROBLEMS

What they did: Nordic governments embedded Sami indigenous identity into state media, school curricula, tourism narratives, and technology platforms — positioning Sami ecological knowledge not as traditional wisdom but as advanced, modern, and urgently relevant to climate and sustainability challenges.

The communication shift: Not "the Sami are a protected minority." But "the Sami are teachers — and the world needs to listen."

Result: Sami cultural products represent 18% of Lapland's tourism economy. Sami language now appears on Apple and Google products. Sami climate knowledge is cited in UN climate reports.

What India borrows:
500+ GI-tagged tribal crafts. ₹1,200 crore in annual TRIFED trade. The story is already there. The communication strategy just needs to tell it.

THE GLOBAL COMMUNICATION PLAYBOOK

FOUR LESSONS. ONE STRATEGY.

COUNTRY	COMMUNICATION SHIFT	INDIA APPLICATION
New Zealand	Indigenous = National competitive advantage	Janjatiya culture is India's brand strength and soft power advantage
Bhutan	Indigenous = World's most advanced development model	Janjatiya ecological knowledge can inform India's model of sustainable development
Peru	Indigenous = Live, growing, globally relevant economy	500+ GI crafts and TRIFED position the Janjatiya economy as globally marketable
Finland	Indigenous = Teachers, not protected subjects	Janjatiya communities can be positioned as knowledge leaders shaping India's future

THE THROUGH-LINE ACROSS ALL FOUR: THEY STOPPED Communicating about indigenous communities. They started communicating through indigenous communities.
That is the single most important communication decision this Ministry can make.

THE COMMUNICATION CHANNELS

WHERE THIS STRATEGY LIVES.

This communication strategy operates across six channels simultaneously, each with a distinct role, a distinct audience, and a distinct content approach. All six carry the same narrative. None of them work in isolation.

01: Social Media

Primary owned channel. Daily presence. Organic reach. Community building.

02: Earned Media

Press, editorial, broadcast. Third-party credibility. National narrative amplification.

03: Vernacular & Regional Communication

12 states. 8+ languages. 200+ regional creators. Ground-level truth-telling.

04: Spokesperson & Public Representation

Ministry voices. Community voices. Expert voices. One consistent message.

05: Content Publishing

Long-form features, data stories, documentary series. Depth and permanence.

06: Community Outreach

Events, activations, on-ground presence. The communication that doesn't need a screen.

CHANNEL 1: SOCIAL MEDIA STRATEGY

SOCIAL MEDIA: THE DAILY VOICE OF JANJATIYA PRIDE

Role: Owned channel for consistent, daily communication of the Janjatiya Pride narrative to national and regional audiences.

PLATFORM ROLES:

INSTAGRAM: Visual storytelling. Heritage aesthetics. Craft portraits. Reels. Art carousels. The beautiful face of the campaign.

YOUTUBE: Long-form documentary content. Scheme impact stories. Community profiles. The depth behind the beauty.

TWITTER / X: Data threads. National discourse. Real-time hooks on news and policy moments. The intellectual backbone.

FACEBOOK: Vernacular content. Community reach. Rural and semi-urban audiences. The breadth of reach.

CONTENT PRINCIPLE: EVERY POST BEGINS WITH A JANJATIYA CONTEXT AND EXPANDS TO A NATIONAL TRUTH. NO POST EXISTS WITHOUT THIS DEVICE.

SOCIAL MEDIA: CONTENT SERIES

THE CONTENT SERIES THAT BUILD THE NARRATIVE.

- RECEIPTS OF A NATION — Weekly Instagram post One verified statistic about tribal contribution. Bold number. One line of context. Source cited. No stock art. Every week, without exception.
- "FROM HERE" — Weekly hero post across all platforms One community. One story. One national impact. Told through the "From Here, India Takes Shape" device.
- "HANDS THAT BUILD INDIA" — Bi-weekly Instagram series Close-up craft photography. Artisan name, community, state, and what their craft contributes to India's economy or identity.
- "INDIA'S FOREST PHARMACY" — Monthly carousel Van Dhan produce. What it is, where it comes from, what it does. Data-led. Beautiful.
- "THE EMRS GENERATION" — Monthly YouTube feature One EMRS student per month. Their story. Their school. Where they are going. What India gains.
- "WHAT INDIA OWES" — Quarterly long read Pinned across all platforms. A data-rich, copy-led piece on one specific contribution of tribal communities to national wellbeing.

CHANNEL 2: EARNED MEDIA STRATEGY

EARNED MEDIA: THE VOICE INDIA

Role: Build national narrative through third-party media coverage that is credible, independent of government, and impossible to dismiss.

MEDIA STRATEGY:

NATIONAL ENGLISH PRESS TOI · Hindustan Times · The Hindu · Indian Express · The Print · Scroll · The Wire Pitch: Data-led stories on tribal economic contribution. Investigative features on GI craft exports. EMRS student success profiles.

NATIONAL BROADCAST NDTV · India Today · Republic · DD News Pitch: Spokesperson interviews. Scheme milestone announcements. Community achievement stories.

DIGITAL NEWS Newslaundry · The Ken · Mint Lounge · Forbes India Pitch: Long-form analytical features. Economic data on tribal contribution. Sustainability angle.

REGIONAL & VERNACULAR PRESS State-level Hindi, Odia, Telugu, Assamese, Bengali outlets Pitch: Local community stories. State-specific scheme impact. Vernacular hero stories.

EARNED MEDIA: THE PITCH APPROACH

HOW WE GET COVERAGE WITHOUT PAYING FOR IT.

The three pitch types that always work for government communication:

MEDIA STRATEGY:

TYPE 1 — THE DATA STORY

Lead with a number journalists haven't seen. Build the story around it. Offer the Ministry spokesperson for quote. Example: "500 tribal crafts carry India's GI tag. The world doesn't know yet."

TYPE 2 — THE PERSON STORY

One real person. Real name. Real community. Real transformation. Ministry scheme as supporting context — never the headline. Example: "Sunita Hembram's honey is now in Whole Foods. Van Dhan made the connection."

TYPE 3 — THE ANNIVERSARY / MOMENT HOOK

Tie Ministry communication to a national or global moment. Janjatiya Gaurav Divas. World Environment Day. International Day of Indigenous Peoples. Example: "On Rule: Every pitch offers an exclusive angle. No generic press releases. Every piece of media outreach is tailored to the outlet, the journalist, and the moment.

CHANNEL 3: VERNACULAR & REGIONAL STRATEGY

VERNACULAR COMMUNICATION: THE GROUND TRUTH

MEDIA STRATEGY:

Why this matters: The Janjatiya Pride narrative cannot be built only in English and Hindi. 700+ tribes speak their own languages. The communities this strategy celebrates must also be able to receive and participate in it.

12 Priority States: Jharkhand · Odisha · Chhattisgarh · Madhya Pradesh · Maharashtra · Rajasthan · Gujarat · Assam · Meghalaya · Nagaland · Manipur · Andhra Pradesh

8 Priority Languages: Hindi · Odia · Telugu · Assamese · Bengali · Santali · Gondi · Bodo

The Creator Network: 200+ regional creators — one minimum per district in each tribal belt state. Not influencers. Community storytellers. People who know the community, speak the language, and have earned local trust.

Content Approach: All hero content translated and culturally adapted — not just linguistically translated. A Gondi-speaking community in Chhattisgarh needs different framing than a Santhali community in Jharkhand. Same truth. Different entry point.

CHANNEL 4: SPOKESPERSON & PUBLIC REPRESENTATION

PUBLIC REPRESENTATION: ONE VOICE, MANY

THE SPOKESPERSON

ARCHITECTURE:

TIER 1 — COMMUNITY VOICES (Lead) Janjatiya artisans, EMRS graduates, Van Dhan entrepreneurs, forest guardians. The primary face of all communication. Their story is the campaign. Every press conference, every media interview, every social post leads with them.

TIER 2 — MINISTRY VOICES Secretary, Joint Secretary, and designated spokespersons of MoTA. Trained on the narrative framework. Speaking consistently from the "From Here" device. No scheme announcements without a community story attached.

TIER 3 — EXPERT VOICES Ecologists, economists, cultural historians, sustainability experts. Anchor the credibility of Pillar 2 (Strength) and Pillar 4 (Contribution) communication.

TIER 4 — CULTURAL AMPLIFIERS Indian artists, chefs, designers, and musicians connected to tribal heritage. Not endorsers — collaborators. Their association must be authentic, not transactional.

The rule for all spokespersons: One message. One device. "From Here, India Takes Shape." Every spokesperson, every interview, every platform.

CHANNEL 5: CONTENT PUBLISHING STRATEGY

CONTENT PUBLISHING: THE DEPTH BEHIND THE DAILY

VOICE

THE SPOKESPERSON ARCHITECTURE:

ROLE: BUILD A PERMANENT, SEARCHABLE, SHAREABLE BODY OF CONTENT THAT MAKES THE JANJATIYA PRIDE NARRATIVE IMPOSSIBLE TO IGNORE — AND EASY TO FIND.

THE HERO FILM: "ROOTS THAT RISE" A cinematic 3-minute film. Real faces. Real forests. Real stories. Opens in a tribal forest at dawn — a weaver at her loom, an EMRS student opening a textbook, a Van Dhan entrepreneur at the market. One voice over: "From here, India takes shape." Closing frame: the India map, drawn in tribal textile patterns.

THE DOCUMENTARY SERIES — "WHAT INDIA OWES THEM" 8-episode YouTube series. One Janjatiya community per episode.

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF CONTRIBUTION: One published document per year. Every number. Every source. Every community. The definitive record of what Janjatiya communities contributed to India that year. Distributed to press, Parliament, think tanks, and global bodies.

Told through the "From Here" device.

Ep 1: The Weavers of Assam → Global Fashion

Ep 2: The Forest Pharmacists of Jharkhand → Ayurveda

Ep 3: The Carbon Keepers of Bastar → Climate Economics

Ep 4: The EMRS Generation → Leadership Pipeline

Ep 5: The Honey Revolution of Odisha → Van Dhan GI Brand

Ep 6: The Bamboo Architects of Northeast → Sustainable Design

Ep 7: The Seed Keepers of Chhattisgarh → Food Sovereignty

Ep 8: The Van Dhan Entrepreneurs → Forest Economy 2.0

The principle: Every event is a communication opportunity. Every event generates content. Every event is planned with media coverage built in not added as an afterthought.

CAMPAIGN ROUTE 2

A POWERFUL NARRATIVE THAT SHOWS HOW TRIBAL HERITAGE IS NOT SEPARATE FROM MODERN
INDIA'S GROWTH,
BUT A VITAL FORCE WITHIN IT.

जनजातीय परंपराओं से प्रगति की ओर – भारत

A CAMPAIGN ROUTE THAT CONNECTS
TRIBAL IDENTITY,
CULTURAL PRIDE, AND NATIONAL PROGRESS

WHAT THIS ROUTE STANDS FOR

THIS ROUTE TELLS THE STORY OF A NATION MOVING FORWARD WITH ITS ROOTS INTACT.

It positions tribal communities as:

- keepers of heritage
- carriers of wisdom
- participants in India's future growth story

WHY THIS TAGLINE

“जनजातीय परंपराओं से प्रगति की ओर – भारत” creates a bridge between identity and aspiration.

3 Strategic Reasons

1. It is inclusive

Progress is shown as belonging to everyone.

2. It is respectful

Tradition is honoured, not treated as outdated.

3. It is future-facing

It aligns tribal identity with the vision of a developed India.

WHAT DOES IT REALLY MEAN?

जनजातीय परंपराओं से

- ancestral knowledge
- sustainable living
- language, art, identity, community

प्रगति की ओर

- education
- mobility
- digital access
- entrepreneurship
- dignity and opportunity

भारत

- a united national journey
- collective growth
- inclusive development

THE CENTRAL CAMPAIGN IDEA

Tradition is not the opposite of progress.
It is the foundation of meaningful progress.

The campaign reframes tribal communities not as people being “brought forward,” but as communities already carrying values that India needs:

- resilience
- sustainability
- skill
- wisdom
- cultural depth

WHAT PERCEPTION SHIFT DOES THIS ROUTE CREATE?

OLD LENS

Tribal communities are seen only through deprivation or distance

NEW LENS

Tribal communities are seen as proud cultural anchors and emerging drivers of progress

IMPACT

THIS CHANGES THE NARRATIVE FROM:

- SYMPATHY → RESPECT
- WELFARE → EMPOWERMENT
- ISOLATION → PARTICIPATION

THE STORY ARC OF THE CAMPAIGN

Where identity, culture and wisdom come from

JOURNEY

How support, opportunity and aspiration create momentum

HOW THE CAMPAIGN SHOULD SOUND

TONe Principles
